Peter Fonda unable to attend Febiofest

The American actor Peter Fonda, who had been announced as a guest at the 26th Prague IFF – Febiofest, was today forced to cancel his planned visit to the Czech Republic on health grounds. The news was relayed to the festival by his agent and later confirmed by his wife.

Peter Fonda was scheduled to give a master class for the public during Febiofest and it has therefore been called off. However, viewers can still enjoy his films, with screenings of Easy Rider, Ulee's Gold and Outlaw's Blues set to take place as planned. In addition, the award for lifetime contribution to cinema that Peter Fonda is due to receive will be presented to a representative.

Thank you for your understanding.
